

LEX EST REX? THE POLISH-LITHUANIAN COMMONWEALTH

The webinar features a distinguished academic - Professor Robert Frost, who will analyze the governing systems of the vast multi-ethnic, multi-religious, and multi-cultural Polish-Lithuanian Commonwealth. He will examine the underlying political philosophy of that Polish-Lithuanian Union, demonstrating how it functioned for 200 years. Professor Frost posits that if one understands the underlying laws and philosophy, the Union was by no means as dysfunctional as is usually suggested.

Professor Frost is a renowned historian and academic interested in Eastern and Northern Europe of the 14th till 19th centuries with a primary focus on the Polish-Lithuanian Union and the history of the period's warfare. He holds the Burnett Fletcher Chair of History at the School for Divinity, History, and Philosophy at the University of Aberdeen in the UK. He has earned his doctorate in the School of Slavonic and East European Studies at the University College London (UCL) and is a foreign member of the Polish Academy of the Arts and Sciences and a British Academy member. He was awarded numerous prizes for his latest book, including the Pro Historia Polonorum Prize.
